President's Report

On behalf of the Board of UTS Olympic I extend a warm welcome to the directors, supporters and players of Sydney United to today's game.

It is very exciting to see two Sydney teams at the top of the ladder and playing out what should be the game of the year so far.

It is pleasing to see so many people coming to watch the Blues each week. The coach and players are certainly providing us with entertainment and all at the club are very proud of them.

We are sorry to see Branko Milosevic leave the club. He wanted to play soccer each week and unfortunately with the team playing so well, no one is guaranteed automatic selection in the first team. All at the club thank him for his contribution to Olympic and wish him well in his new club, West Adelaide.

Today we welcome player from Rugby League Club Balmain Tigers, the Seoul Representative Soccer Team and the 1995 New South Wales State Representative team. It is great to have so many visitors to our games. I hope you will all come again often.

Good luck to both teams today.

— JIM KELAITIS

Coach's Report

This evening we welcome Sydney United to Leichhardt Oval for what is a top of the table clash. Branko Culina brings a very good squad into tonight's game, with Tony Popovic, Mark Babie, Ante Milicic and Robert Enes just a few of the players who we have to contend with tonight.

Both teams are in good form at the moment, with Sydney United having the best defensive record in the league as opposed to Olympic having scored the most goals in the league so far. So it should be a very close encounter.

Last week was a very good win against South Melbourne in which we played some very good open attacking soccer. We created plenty of scoring opportunities and probably should have scored a few more goals in the end. After leading 4-0 we lost concentration and allowed a couple of soft goals against us and we must work on that area. It was good to see the forwards all getting goals, and with Joe Bacak scoring, it meant we have had nine different players score goals for us this year. Peter Tsekenis continued his good work in Midfield and Milan Blagojevic came back from International duties and put in a very polished performance.

It was great to see George Sorras, Joe Bacak and Elias Augerinos all come on and do very well for us, and it will be those players we will look to in the next few weeks when we have injuries and suspensions. We need a strong squad in order for us to achieve any success.

Again it was great to see and hear the support you gave the players and certainly lifts them. We hope you get behind us again, in what is a very big game for the club. Thank you.

— DAVID RATCLIFFE

Peter Tsekenis, otherwise known as "Tseka" is one of the clubs most loved players. Peter grew up in a Greek speaking household and is proud to be Greek.

Although being Greek, does have its problems such as the added pressure to play well and copping the comments from the crowd when a goal is missed or a pass not delivered accurately. But generally, Peter acknowledges the tremendous support the Olympic fans give to him and to the team.

1995 is Peter's fourth year at Olympic and is probably his best. John Taylor, soccer writer for the Telegraph Mirror described Peter's work rate against South Melbourne as "phenomenal" and awarded him man-of-the-match.

This year Peter is happy with the team's start and believes Olympic can continue its good form under David Ratcliffe. Off the field, Peter is the club's Development Officer and will be heavily involved in promoting soccer and UTS Olympic to school children.

"Straight Shooting"

With UNCLE STAVROS

There has been much hype and interest about the number of Australians playing their trade overseas and as we get closer to the next century conservative estimates suggest the number could reach around 150.

Soccer Australia knows only too well this likely scenario must be stopped. Many people have solutions however, the only way we can keep these gifted young Australians is full-time professionalism.

It's a familiar story. I know you've heard it all before.

I can understand that so many players want to become full-time footballers in Europe or Asia, but how many are actually making money. Or should I say, how many are making a substantial amount.

Latest figures suggest 100 Aussies are overseas-based. Upon closer analysis not that many are playing in elite competitions. Asia is still a somewhat untapped market, but in places like England, Germany, Belgium, Scotland and Holland only a handful are first team regulars.

That's the deception for young Australian players. Sure it's great to see Mark Bosnich, Robbie Slater, Craig Moore and Paul Okon regulars in their respective competitions. They have worked very hard to reach the top.

I feel too many inexperienced players have made the move too quickly. John Filan, the Coventry City goalie, deserves special praise. Unwanted in the National teams in Australia, Filan, fought his way to the top the hard way, even though his team are struggling in the Premier League.

Craig Moore didn't even play in the National League and at the tender age of 18 he made his first team debut with Scotland's biggest club, Rangers. He was forced to miss the first four rounds this season because of injury.

I spoke to his parents last week and understandably they are proud of his achievements. Rangers want him to sign a new five-year contract, but Moore and his parents are not happy with the financial aspects.

Once again it's a classic story of trying to secure "cheap labour" because Moore is from Australia. If a club like Rangers is trying to sign him up on the cheap can you imagine what sort of contracts the other Australians have signed.

I know it's the dream of every young Australian to play in Europe, but the warning signs are obvious. Remember all the adulation Paul Agostino and David Seal received just a few years ago. Well, they are still trying to break into the big time.

Any young star of the future only need ask Frank Farina, Graham Arnold and Robbie Slater what it takes to get it in Europe. They spent four or five years playing in our National League before making the big move!!!

That name has popped up again, You know the one — ETHNIC. It seems that Victorian Premier, Jeff Kennett, has put in his two bobs worth yet again.

I'm sorry Mr Kennett, but whoever is advising you about soccer should quit and take up marbles or maybe pocket billiards. In the past we've heard about Victoria trying to secure the rights to every major sporting event, including the World Cup, and that was done without support of the Australian Soccer Federation.

Now Mr Kennett wants Australian clubs to shed their ethnic image. I could write many words about this hotly disputed topic, but I will try to be as brief as possible.

Ethnic immigrants helped set-up many of the National League clubs. That should never be forgotten.

What Mr Kennett and many people outside the game fail to realise is that the ethnic factor is not a problem. The different ethnic groups that use soccer as a political voice are!!!

I was born in Balmain of Greek heritage and I am married to a dinky-di Australian. My children will more than likely grow up as Australians, but they will never lose their "ethnic" surname and proud history.

Those alphabet surnames will always appear on team-sheets into the next century. Embrace the ethnic communities don't deter them from the game!!!

P.S. When Australia next plays an international in Melbourne maybe we should change all the surnames in the match programme to Smith instead of Ivanovic, Lazaridis or Viduka!!!

Flashback 1962

The appearance of Charles Perkins on Sunday 5 November, and the tremendous reception he received evoked many pleasant memories from a bygone era. Former Olympic player Steve Georgakis has kindly provided this review of season 1962.

For the first time ever, Pan Hellenic signed three players who were not of Greek origin. Apart from Charles Perkins, Julius Forgacs from Hakoah and goalkeeper . Dvivenvoorden, a Dutchman from Budapest were also signed. Forgacs had also represented Hungary at B International level.

By round 14 Pan Hellenic was back in the top four and playing against Apia, who had beaten them in the first round. Although having the better of play, Pan Hellenic could not break free and the score ended up a 2-2 draw. A record federation crowd of 16,265 people attended. Spectators included the Australian cricket captain, Richie Benaud; leading driver Jim Caffyn; former champion boxer turned referee, Vic Patrick; and Commonwealth flyweight champion Rocky Gattellari. The whole management committee of the ASF attended together with distinguished guests the Lord Mayor of Sydney and the consuls of both Greece and Italy.

By the end of the season Pan Hellenic has finished seventh. A Mavropoulos was voted Pan Hellenic's player of the year and was selected in the NSW team that played friendliest against other states.

The players and their appearances that season were: C Ambos (11); J Forgacs (14); D Gargale (9); C Genaris (3); J Haniotis (6); J Hatzis (22); A Maurice (14); A Mavropoulos (20); C Omeros (19); S Patrinos (20); C Perkins (22); J Roumanos (6); B Smith (11); T Toussis (20); A Tsombaras (4); L Tsombaras (16); S Tsombaras (3); N Yangou (22). Perkins was the leading goalscorer with 11.

In 1962, Robert Menzies was Prime Minister; Brazil defeated Czechoslovakia (3-1) in the Final of the World Cup; St George won its seventh consecutive rugby league premiership defeating Western Suburbs 9-6; Essendon defeated Carlton in the VFL Grand Final, Alistair Lord (Geelong) won the Brownlow; Rod Laver won tennis' Grand Slam; the Melbourne Cup winner was Even Stevens; Graham Hill (G. brit.) won the World Driver's Championship; and the Commonwealth Games were held in Perth. The Academy Award for best picture went to "Lawrence of Arabia"; the most popular song was Chubby Checker's "The Twist", while in Liverpool The Beatles were about to revolutionise popular culture.

by PHIL HAFEY

The modern game requires referees and linesmen who are much fitter than those of a decade ago. FIFA's desire for more attacking football and the maximum possible playing time has resulted in greater demands on the fitness of match officials.

At the commencement of the season all officials have to pass the FIFA fitness test:

- 50m sprint – 7.5 seconds (twice)
- 200m sprint – 32 seconds (Referees only – twice)
- 12 minute run, minimum distance 2700m (walking not permitted)

During the season fitness levels are monitored monthly and any officials who do not maintain the required standard, or who fail to complete their training requirements, are not appointed to fixtures until their fitness improves.

The training of referees has taken on a far more professional approach in recent years. Indeed, the segment shown on "On the Ball" recently bore little resemblance to the real training that referees do. In NSW, we have engaged the services of a running coach who concentrates on technique. Every Tuesday evening Steve Courtney works with members of the National Panels to modify style and improve performance.

In addition, officials work through a series of drills designed to ensure that they are in the best possible position to view play and make the correct decision. Gone are the days of referees simply running laps to maintain fitness. One of the drills involves an official moving around the field as the ball whilst the referee and linesmen constantly move and adjust their position. Sounds easy? Come and join us at 6.30pm on Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday at the Greyhound Club, Yagoona and find out!

Linesmen are not forgotten and many of the activities are designed to ensure that the linesman stays exactly in line with the second last defender. Spectators may be noticed that linesmen are spending more time moving sideways along the line, often at speed. This is because we have found that the linesman is better able to judge offside when facing the field rather than running along the line looking across. This movement pattern requires practice and many of the drills used at training are specifically designed to assist linesmen carry out their duties effectively.

The training of referees also includes weekly video sessions where incidents from previous matches are analysed, errors viewed in slow motion and good decisions/actions highlighted. In addition to the weekly video session, every Ericsson Cup referee is expected to analyse his own performance from the video of the game given to him at the conclusion of the fixture.

Officials are constantly seeking to improve their performance and the regular training and inservice ensures that those appointed each weekend are the best available.

QUIZ QUESTIONS

1. At the kick-off, how many players from the team taking the kick are allowed inside the centre circle?
2. A team already has 11 players on the field when a substitute runs onto the field and trips an opponent. What action should the referee take?
3. Are players allowed to celebrate the scoring of a goal?

1. 11
2. Stop play, order the substitute from the field and restart play with a drop-ball where the ball was when play was stopped. A free-kick cannot be awarded because there are more than 11 players on the field.
3. Yes. However, FIFA have stated that players who commit acts of ungentlemanly conduct or delay the restart of the match shall be cautioned.

CELEBRITY SOCCER MATCH

Sunday 26th November 1995, 6pm Leichhardt Oval

Soccer has no geographic or cultural boundaries

Neither has AIDS

On Sunday 26th November, 1995 at Leichhardt Oval Salvatore Coco and Scott Major (Heartbreak High, Police Rescue), Soccer Guru Andy Paschalidis, UTS Olympic Director Lex Marinos, Andy Raymond (7 Sport), Bridgette Adams (7's The Great Outdoors) and Rugby great George Peponis will be joined by other sporting and TV celebrities in a gruelling 10 minutes Celebrity Soccer Match.

Soccer Legend — Eusebio "The Black Panther" may even be there to kick off the Celebrity Match. Anything is possible but one thing is certain — this is one event this year you will not want to miss!

Why all the fuss?

The event is taking place as part of AIDS Awareness Week to promote the "PLAY IT SAFE" — HIV/AIDS Awareness Project which utilises Soccer as a means of reaching multicultural men, women and young people.

"PLAY IT SAFE" is part of a longer term strategy by the Multicultural HIV/AIDS Education and Support Service to raise awareness of HIV/AIDS issues amongst multicultural communities.

The Celebrity Match will start at 6pm at Leichhardt Oval and will be followed by the main game between UTS Olympic and Marconi-Fairfield.

Memories of Pan Hellenic

By NICHOLAS G. PAPPAS

I am amongst the least qualified to write some words about UTS Olympic. My direct contribution to the Church, and its predecessor, Pan Hellenic, can only be described as minor. And yet, through my father's role in the early history of the Club, the household I grew up in became saturated with matters "Pan Hellenic" and was, for many years, a focal point of the Club's internal workings. It is in this environment that I, as a wide-eyed youngster, became immersed in the sheer exhilaration of those early years at "Wenty" (as Wentworth Park became affectionately known) and the highs and lows of the Club's fortunes.

Of the former, there were many. The Club's 1968 Grand Final appearance against Hakoah will forever be etched in my memory. Despite losing 4-2, the excitement of that first Grand Final at the Sports Ground when we cheered for Pan Hellenic with great gusto and watched as Greek import Loukandies scored from 30 metres, is a day those present will never forget. Just as wonderful was the day in 1969 when Pan Hellenic walked out to a packed Wentworth Park in Panathinaikos strip as a tribute to that team's momentous international triumphs. I remember, too, the night before, when my mother stayed up until late to sew the Panathinaikos emblem on the jerseys which the players were to wear — it was definitely all hands on deck in those days!

For a young, impressionable boy in the centre of a storm of activity, the atmosphere at the grounds each week seemed electric. The chant of PAN-ELLINIOS still echoes in my ears and evokes images of players like Patrinos, Sanchez, Blitz, Karayiannis and, later, Westwater, McCullough and Harding together with more mundane things like peanuts, Soccer World and Miss Pan Hellenic competitions!

Of course, there were also the odd unsavoury moments, but they were generally lost in the unparalleled excitement and pride which Pan Hellenic generated in its hard-working committee and supporters.

Today, it is UTS Olympic which is the beneficiary of those formative years of toil and achievement which I was fortunate enough to have witnessed at close hand. Through the Club, we carry with us today the special legacy of those exciting years — by recalling memories such as these, we can truly appreciate the significance which UTS Olympic holds for us today.

From the Juniors

It is a standard cliché among clubs that the greatest asset of a major club is its Junior Development Programme. I believe that the programme and policy that has been introduced since late 1994 by this club is the most progressive and far reaching of any club in the "A" League. The essence of our programme and policy is parallel to that introduced by David Lee at the NSW Soccer Federation which has as its fundamental objective that you select young players of inherent athletic ability and work to develop their soccer technique and skills.

For us at Olympic, 1996 promises to see the full implementation of that objective through not only the adoption of Steve Darby's development programme which has as its nucleus the best of programmes introduced by NSW Federation, AIS Milan and Ajax but those training schedules that our own coaches will apply to ultimately achieve a soccer player with the potential to reach the pinnacle of success at professional level.

While those objectives may appear high fluted and ambitious rhetoric, I together with our youth coaches and our youth committee are single minded in working towards achieving those objectives.

Our youth season commences on 21 November 1995 when our 13s and 14s go through their physiological testing with the 15s and 16s doing likewise on the 23 November 1995.

On Sunday 26 November 1995 at 1.00pm a function is being held at the Sydney Olympic Sporting Club at 64 Tennent Parade, Hurlstone Park wherein we will announce our squads for the 96 NIB Youth League Competition. Further details will be available to the players at the physiological testing.

Following the function, we shall all head off to Leichhardt Stadium to cheer UTS Olympic as they rout into Marconi.

— T A DOUMANIS
Chairman Youth Committee
